

IMPORTED PRODUCTS THAT COMPETE WITH LOCAL PRODUCTION
COUNTRIES	FOOD	LIVESTOCK	PROCESSED FOOD	INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS	SERVICES	Notes
Burkina Faso	Rice imported from Thailand and Vietnam, China, Singapore. Imported good rice more expensive than the local one, but broken rice is cheaper. Wheat imported from France and Belgium	Milk imported from the Netherlands, France, Switzerland and the USA	imported good rice more expensive than the local one, but broken rice is cheaper. Biscuits and pasta from France.	motos from Asia cheaper than local ones
Cameroon	RICE from Asian countries. Imported rice is CHEAPER than the local one.	POULTRY imported from France and the Netherlands. Imported chicken is CHEAPER than local one. FISH from Senegal, Maroc and China. Imported fish is CHEAPER than local. Imported PORC from europe. Imported one cheaper than local.
Cote d'Ivoire	RICE from Thailand. Imported rice is CHEAPER than local one.
DR Congo	MAIZE imported from Zambia. Similar price as the local one. Imported ORANGES from South Africa are cheaper than local ones.	FISH imported from the EU (parts) and South Africa. The imported one is cheaper. Poultry imported from Brazil, and chicken parts from the EU CHEAPER than the local ones.

IMPORTED PRODUCTS THAT COMPETE WITH LOCAL PRODUCTION
COUNTRIES	FOOD	LIVESTOCK	PROCESSED FOOD	INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS	SERVICES	Notes
Ghana	RICE imported from Asia (Thailand), USA, EU, cheaper if of low quality. Good quality more expensive than local one.	MEAT from Europe & USA, CHEAPER than locally produced meat. FROZEN CHICKEN from USA and EU cheaper than local one.
Kenya	RICE imported from Pakistan and China cheaper than local one. WHEAT imports from Argentina & Australia are cheaper than the local wheat. SUGAR imported from COMESA countries is cheaper than local sugar. FRUITS imported from South Africa and Europe are more expensive than local ones, but they are bought by well off people in supermarkets.	Milk imported from EU and Switzerland, needed during dry season. Sometimes there are local surplus milk not able to be processed, but powder milk is cheaper.			Financial and Insurance Services imported from EU, USA. There are also local services providers but international firms are preferred as more solvable.	A protection on tariffs (ending in 2009) for sugar makes that only the sugar needed to cover consumption is imported. Kenya has increased its tariffs for milk products to protect its dairy producers. Flow of doctors and medical personnel from Kenya to the UK.
Madagascar	Imported RICE from Southeast Asian is cheaper than local one, though of lower quality.			Clothing imported from China. The imported one is cheaper. SOAP from Asia, South Africa and Mauritius, cheaper than the local one. CEMENT from Asia and Egypt, is cheaper than the local one.	AIR TRANSPORT from France, is cheaper than the national airline.

IMPORTED PRODUCTS THAT COMPETE WITH LOCAL PRODUCTION
COUNTRIES	FOOD	LIVESTOCK	PROCESSED FOOD	INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS	SERVICES	Notes
Malawi	Maize from neighbouring countries. Similar price to the local one.
Uganda	RICE imported from India MORE EXPENSIVE but of better quality than the local one . Fruits (apples, mangoes, oranges, etc) from South Africa are more expensive than the local ones. Bought by the well-off people in supermarkets.			CLOTHING and textiles imported from China, USA and UK are cheaper than the local ones.	Doctors and Health services from UK.	There is a real flow of doctors and nurses from Uganda to the UK and other Western countries
Zambia	FRUITS (apples) and VEGETABLES, PEANUT BUTTER, imported from South Africa and FLOUR from Tanzania & South Africa are MORE EXPENSIVE but of better quality than the local ones. COFFE from Brazil is CHEAPER than local one.		TEA imported from Malawi is MORE EXPENSIVE than the local one.	AGRICULTURAL INPUTS imported from the United Arab Emirates, South Africa, UK, Germany are of better quality. CLOTHING from China, EUROPE, South Africa is CHEAPER. FURNITURE from South Africa, China, Middle East is of better quality.	MANAGEMENT SERVICES from Norway and Sweden. Imported FINANCIAL SERVICES from UK, USA and EU. Assistance to vulnerable communities, coming from USA, South Africa, Britain and China.	