

INTEGRITY OF CREATION CONFERENCE

Protecting our Common Home: Scientific Contributions & Religious Perspectives

September 28-29, 2016

DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY | POWER CENTER

PLENARY PRESENTATIONS

Wednesday, Sept. 28, 7 p.m.

Prof. Ursula Goodenough, Department of Biology, Washington University, St. Louis, MO
The Evolutionary Dimensions of Laudato Si'

RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

Thursday, Sept. 29, 12:45 p.m.

Prof. Daniel P. Scheid, Duquesne University
*Moral Vision of Laudato Si':
The Cosmic Common Good as a Common
Ground for Interreligious Ecological Ethics*

Thursday, Sept. 29, 4 p.m.

Prof. Celia Deane-Drummond, Director of the Center for Theology, Science and Human Flourishing, University of Notre Dame, IN
*Theological Anthropology of Laudato Si':
Tracing the Interplay of Theology, Science and Ecology*

RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

PANEL PRESENTATIONS

Thursday Sept. 29, 8:30 a.m.

John Kilcran, C.S.Sp., Dublin; Jude Nnorom, C.S.Sp., Rome; Chika Oneyjiuwa, C.S.Sp., United Nations
The Poor and the Earth are Crying Out: Protecting Our Common Home

Thursday, Sept. 29, 11 a.m.

Michael Blackhurst, Research Development Manager, University of Pittsburgh
Exploring the Limits of Science and Engineering for Environmental Decision Making

Prof. Brady Porter, Duquesne University
Navigating the Anthropocene with Jack Sparrow's Compass

LUNCH TO FOLLOW

Thursday, Sept. 29, 2:30 p.m.

Prof. Michel A. Boudrias, University of San Diego
Climate Change Education and Social Justice: Interdisciplinary Approaches in Sustainability

For the complete conference schedule and to register, please visit www.duq.edu/ioc. This event is free and open to the public with a $5 reduced parking rate.

For information, contact Glory Smith: smithg@duq.edu or 412.396.4504.